

Organizing a Story

A story can be seen to be like climbing a tree. You start on the lower branches which are full (longer paragraphs needed), move up the tree using shorter and shorter paragraphs, before coming down the other side of a tree.

Conflict with another character.

Description of the main character and background.

Resolution of the conflict

Introduction and description of the place.

The main character arrives back in present time.