

Secret Spelling Spy Message

The spelling spies have tried to hide their message by only using the root verb. All of the words in bold need the suffix –ation added to become nouns and de-code the message.

I have some inform about the coronate of the Prince. During the prepare of the decorate of the throne room, the insurgents will hide for the durate of the event. They will pretend that they are from the general populate and that they are here to show admire, but really they are waiting for an opportunity to throw eggs at the Prince. I do not think he would enjoy this sense and think we need to find the insurgents at once.

*insurgent – a person who wants to harm the Prince
